HumasUPNVJ - To welcome the celebration of the 57th Anniversary, UPNVJ launched a book entitled Defending the Country which was launched right at the time the Anniversary celebration took place, which took place at the Bhinneka Tunggal Ika Auditorium Building UPNVJ, Tuesday (7/1)

This book on Defending the Country is a collection of writings from several lecturer representatives from each faculty within UPNVJ. Its contents provide academic application as well as scientific insight that defending the country is an attitude, action, behavior that is familiar to our daily lives, which is suitable for all professions.

Anter Venus as the Head of the Writing Team and one of the editors of this book explained that defending the country is very close to our daily lives, "Seeing it from various perspectives will make us realize that defending the country in fact has many dimensions of implementation and is close to our daily lives. Everyone who has a profession whatever the job as long as they do their best for this country, advance this country, then he has done state defense, this book provides broad insights about defending the country ". Obviously

"This book that we have made is a book that looks at defending the country from an unconventional perspective, a non-military approach from a university perspective. So we want to see that defending the country lives in each other's minds, everyone has experience, everyone has an interpretation of defending the country. And that interpretation will be very relevant to apply and easy to understand for people in different fields. he continued

Apart from that, Anter Venus would like to thank all the teams who helped in the process of making this UPNVJ state defense book, and also hopes that with this book, it can help implement state defense within the UPNVJ environment.
