

UPNVJ Distributes Aid for Subang Natural Disaster

Monday, 15 March 2021 14:20 WIB

HumasUPNVJ - The rains that have occurred continuously since the beginning of 2021 have caused flooding to occur in a number of areas. In early March 2021 the worst flood submerged Pamanukan Sebrang Village, Pamanukan District, Subang, West Java up to the height of an adult's head.

The livelihood of some of the residents is selling so that when a flood occurs, it is difficult for the community to carry out their activities.

On Friday (12/03/21) UPN Veteran Jakarta, the Ika Alumni Disaster Response Team (TAGANA IKA UPNVJ), and the Student Study Group of the Disaster Response Action Agency (KSM Batavia) Faculty of Health Sciences UPNVJ, and LPPM UPNVJ moved to help the community those affected after the disaster.

The assistance provided was in the form of daily necessities such as rice, oil, instant noodles, toddler needs, sanitary napkins and clothes that were suitable for use.

When the team arrived, there was a warm welcome from the people of Pamanukan Village, distribution of assistance directly to the community with coordination assistance from village officials.

With this assistance, it is hoped that it can provide benefits to communities affected by disasters and lighten a bit of the burden for survival.
