HumasUPNVJ - The Undergraduate Program in Communication Studies is again a favorite choice for prospective students taking part in the 2021 Batch I Independent Selection for Undergraduate Program (SEMA) at the Jakarta Veterans National Development University (UPNVJ) whose results were announced on Thursday (1/7/2021) Then.

UPNVJ offers 19 study programs. Based on data received by UPNVJ Public Relations on Monday (5/7/2021), registrants in the Communication Studies Bachelor Study Program reached 2,751 people, followed by the Management Bachelor Study Program (2,328 people) and the Law Bachelor Study Program (1,965 people).

In addition to these three study programs, other study programs at UPNVJ are also in great demand by prospective students, among others

Bachelor of Medicine (1,913 people), Bachelor of Public Health (1,828 people), Bachelor of International Relations (1,651 people), Bachelor of Nutrition (1,584 people), Bachelor of Information Systems (1,506 people), Bachelor of Science 1 Informatics (1,273 people), as well as Bachelor of Political Science (1,218 people) and Bachelor of Industrial Engineering (1,141 people).

The high number of applicants shows that the level of competition to become students in the study program is quite high.

Meanwhile, study programs with less interest in SEMA S-1 Batch I included Bachelor of Pharmacy (1,021 people), Bachelor of Development Economics (950 people), Bachelor of Accounting (928 people), S-1 Islamic Economics (628 people), Bachelor of Nursing (616 people), Bachelor of Electrical Engineering (464 people), and Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering (412 people) and Bachelor of Marine Engineering (237 people).

It is hoped that participants who do not pass the 2021 UPNVJ Batch I SEMA UPNVJ will not give up and keep their spirits up. You can try again at the 2021 UPNVJ SEMA Batch II through the website registration.upnvj.ac.id starting July 3, 2021 at 13:00 WIB to July 14, 2021 at 23:59 WIB
