HumasUPNVJ - During the current pandemic it seems difficult to stay productive, because you have to reduce outdoor activities, many activities have changed, but this is different from UPN Veteran Jakarta students who are always productive every day, as can be seen from the many achievements they have achieved. This can be proven by the KSM Student Research and Debate Forum (FRDM) Faculty of Law UPN Veterans Jakarta again making a proud achievement.

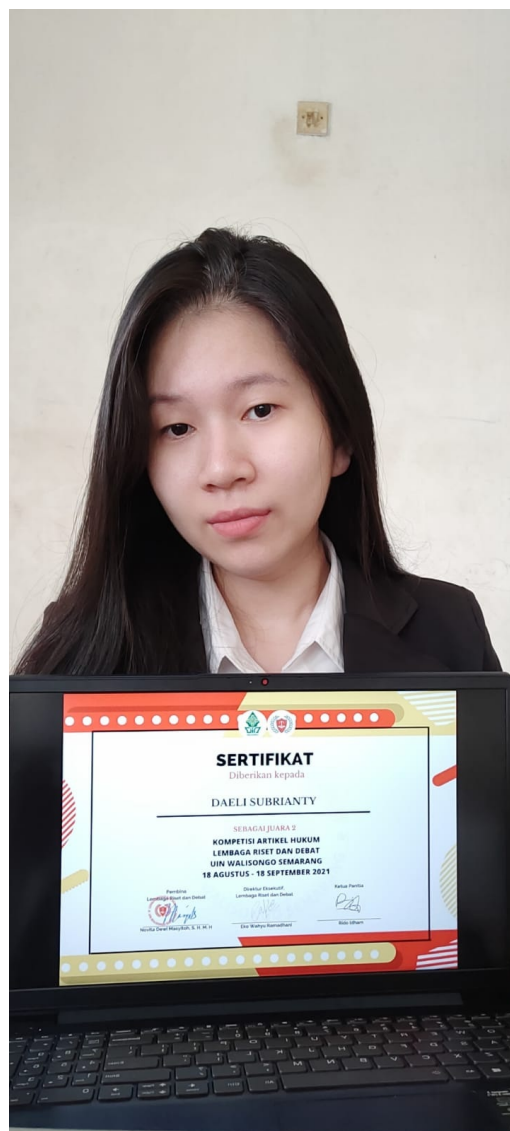

Daeli Subrianty and Nadia Wulandari Rotty, FH students class of 2019 managed to get quite a proud achievement at the national level, namely winning the title of 2nd place in Law Articles, apart from that Fatihana Ulya Nasution and Adella Darmawan also won the title of 3rd place in the same competition, namely the Competition Article on National Law and Videography with the theme "Paradox of Law Enforcement in Indonesia" which was held by the Research and Debate Institute of UIN Walisongo Semarang where the implementation was carried out online on August 18 - September 18 2021. This activity was attended by law faculty students at all public tertiary institutions and private sector on a national scale and was attended by 37 teams spread from 20 universities in Indonesia such as Diponegoro University, Padjadjaran University, Jember University, President University, Mataram University, UNIKA Atma Jaya, UIN Syarif Hidayatullah Jakarta and Andalas University.

The UPNVJ Public Relations Team conducted a written interview with Daeli Subrianty representing Nadia Wulandari saying that we wanted to remain productive during the Covid-19 pandemic, "Our motivation in participating in the competition was our desire to remain productive during the COVID-19 pandemic by contributing and participating as well as in competitions in the field of law. So that we can also make the name of the Jakarta Veterans Development University proud, especially the Faculty of Law," he said.

There were quite a lot of preparations made by Daeli and Nadia, such as brainstorming and in-depth discussions, "First of all, we did a brainstorm related to the theme that the committee had provided. Then, we held discussions to determine topics that would be in accordance with the existing themes, so we could choose 1 (one) main topic for writing our articles. After getting a writing topic, we start compiling articles starting from introduction, discussion, to closing. Next, we also determine the title of our article first. Then, we tidied up and re-checked the contents of our articles before sending them to the committee. After we finished checking, we sent it to the committee via the Google form link provided," Daeli explained to the public relations team.

"In our journey to take part in this competition, of course there are also ups and downs. The joy is that we get new experiences in terms of writing, hone our writing skills, as well as satisfaction and pride when we are able to win a championship, both for each of us, our organization. namely the Student Research and Debate Forum, Faculty of Law, and our UPNVJ campus. Meanwhile, the grief is only a matter of time, we have quite a hard time dividing the time in working on the legal article because each of us has several other activities outside of the competition," he continued.

"We hope that other UPNVJ students can also contribute to giving achievements or other works that can make the Faculty and University proud and proud," closed Daeli hopefully.
