

"Imitating the Noble Morals of the Prophet Muhammad", Theme for the Commemoration of Maulid at UPNVJ

Sunday, 24 October 2021 21:54 WIB

HumasUPNVJ - Maulid Nabi is a commemoration of the birthday of Prophet Muhammad SAW on 12 Rabiul Awal in the Hijriyah calendar. Maulid Nabi Muhammad SAW is also a day of honor and a big day for Muslims. In commemoration of the Birthday of the Prophet Muhammad SAW, UPN Veterans Jakarta invited Prof. Dr. H. Abuddin Nata, MA (Professor of Islamic Education - Faculty of Tarbiyah and Teacher Training UIN Syarif Hidayatullah Jakarta) to give a lecture with the theme: "IMPLOYING THE NOBLE MORALS OF RASULULLAH SAW" via online which was attended by the Chancellor, Deputy Chancellor and all UPNVJ academics with a total of approximately 400 participants. (24/10)

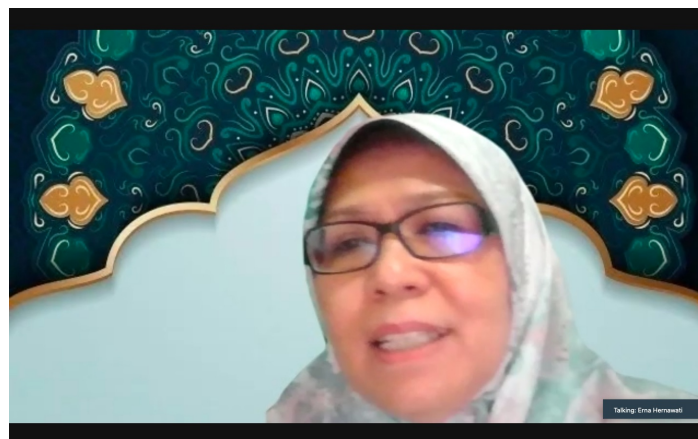

The event began with Ustad Asep Kamaluddin's remarks, "One happiness is that on this occasion we can both commemorate the Prophet's birthday, I hope we all get the intercession of our majesty Rasulullah. Thanks to Prof. Dr. H. Abuddin Nata, who took the time to attend, thank the university leaders for all their support and of course thanks to all participants who have attended and participated," he said.

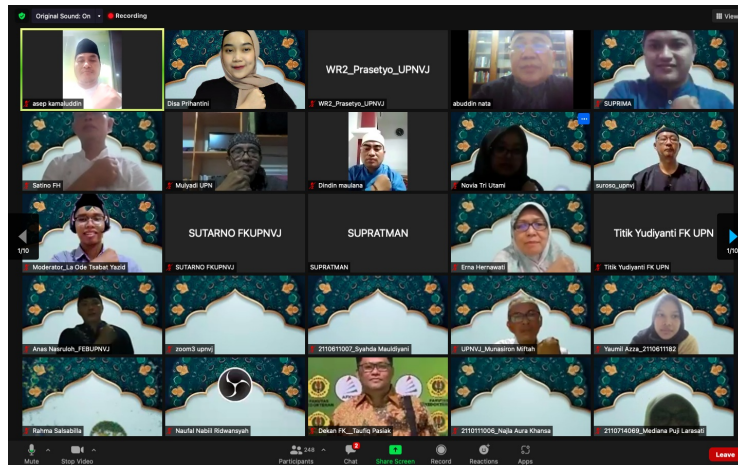

The lecture given by Prof. Dr. H. Abuddin Nata wants to remind us all about the importance of emulating the noble character of the Prophet Muhammad, "The noble character of the Prophet is the spirit, spirit, soul and essence of Islamic teachings. The main teachings in Islam, namely the pillars of faith, the pillars of Islam and ihsan must produce noble character, in the form of good deeds. That is why, Fazlur Rahman, an Islamic reformer from Pakistan in his book al-Islam (1985) once said, that the core of Islamic teachings is noble character which is based on an intimate relationship with Allah (hablun min Allah) and an intimate relationship with humans (habl min al-naas)," he explained

"First, in emulating the morals of the Prophet Muhammad, it must be kaafah (total). That is not only in terms of faith, piety, morals and manners or worship, but must be total. Second, that in following and imitating the Prophet Muhammad it is not enough just outwardly, but accompanied by an inner heart, that is accompanied by faith and hoping for a reward on the Day of Judgment. Third, that in imitating or following the morals of the Prophet Muhammad, do not only rely on conscience or emotions, but must also be accompanied by intelligence and hard work. And the fourth, that in emulating the morals of the Prophet Muhammad can also be accompanied by following Allah SWT's plan which is so neat and well coordinated," continued Prof. Dr. H. Abuddin Nata in his lecture

The activity continued with a discussion session and closed with the UPNVJ Chancellor's remarks, "Thank you for the knowledge about noble character from the Prophet Muhammad, who has been Prof. Dr. H. Abuddin Nata conveyed, I hope we can emulate all the noble character of the Apostle. The noble character of Rasulullah SAW is not something that is difficult for us to achieve, there are many simple things from him that we can emulate and implement well and everything comes back from how good our intentions are in the future. Hopefully all of our hard work can get a lot of grace from Allah SWT and of course we can become employees who are trustworthy in accordance with the morals of the Prophet Muhammad," said the Chancellor hopefully.
