Public Relations UPNVJ - In an effort to improve the skills and abilities of blended learning techniques, UPN Veteran Jakarta through the Institute for Learning Development and Quality Assurance (LP3M) held a Mixed Learning Training at the Open University (UT), on Thursday (12/10/23).

"Network learning where UT has been using this method for a long time while UPN uses face-to-face methods, online methods are applied such as Gmeet Zoom etc., for this reason the results of this training are how UPN can apply online learning methods well," said Satria Yudhia Head of LP3M UPNVJ in his speech.

Satria also conveyed several foundations for the formation of Mixed Learning Training activities for UPNVJ lecturers.

"Some of the challenges faced by teaching staff in teaching via the network include limited technological knowledge (networked learning tools and platforms, as well as how to manage them effectively), reduced interaction/involvement between teaching staff and students, understanding of effective methods. to measure student achievement in the context of e-learning. "Therefore, effective training in teaching via networks is very important for teaching staff," he said.

On this occasion, Satria also hopes that after taking part in this training, participants will be able. After attending this workshop, participants are expected to be able to apply mixed learning through the use of Leads, present mixed learning plans in courses and plan the creation of learning videos that support CPMK.
