The Faculty of Medicine at the Jakarta "Veteran" National Development University once again held an oath-taking and inauguration ceremony for its 67th young doctors. A total of 134 young doctors took the oath and were inaugurated at the UPNVJ Bhinneka Tunggal Ika Hall, Friday (26/1).

The inauguration was carried out directly by the Dean of FK UPNVJ Dr.dr.H.Taufiq Fredrik Pasiak, M.Kes., M.Pd.I. witnessed by the Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Dr. Henry BH Sitorus, ST, MT and the Deputy Deans of FK UPNVJ.

In his speech, the Dean of FK UPNVJ congratulated the young doctors. He hopes that in the next stage, namely the stage of the medical profession at several UPNVJ teaching hospitals, they can run well and continue to learn and explore medical knowledge.

"To young doctors to continue learning throughout their lives because there is still a long way to go. We must always hone our skills, renew our insight and ethics wherever we are. "Because you enter social life, where you will have lots of interactions with various kinds of people," he said.

Apart from that, the Dean also advised that solidarity and togetherness be maintained, be able to adapt to conditions and always be able to maintain the good name of oneself, the good name of parents and the FK UPNVJ and UPNVJ Institutions.

The Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs also advised young doctors to maintain the good name of their alma mater and be willing to make sacrifices for humanity and continue to hone their skills. "I congratulate all parents and all young doctors, don't just be satisfied with the achievements and skills you currently have. Continue to hone your skills to improve your competence and always maintain the good name of your alma mater.

Be an excellent doctor with morality. "What prioritizes humanity is carrying out this profession professionally and not forgetting the function of service," he said.

To date, the UPNVJ Faculty of Medicine has produced 3584 doctors spread across hospitals and health centers throughout Indonesia.
