Public Relations UPNVJ - After holding the Independent Selection State Defense Examination (SEMA) wave 2, the Jakarta "Veteran" National Development University (UPNVJ) conducted the SEMA UPNVJ State Defense Examination Wave 2 on July 25 2024 online (on the network).

Before starting session 1 or the morning session, UPNVJ New Student Admissions (Penmaru) Secretary, Intan Hesti said that all supervisors and officers on duty must be truly responsible. "Thank you to all the teams who were present and took the time to work together in the 2nd wave of Independent Selection," he said

"This is not for ourselves but for UPNVJ, even though you have done this work several times, we hope that you will continue to pay attention to the procedures at every stage, both in session 1 and session 2 today," continued Intan.

In line with the instructions given by Intan, Fajar Nugroho as the UPNVJ Penmaru Coordinator also appealed to the supervisors to pay attention to the existing rules and regulations, "We hope that all officers on duty can be responsible for their respective duties and responsibilities. Like a supervisor, it's a good idea to pay attention to existing rules and regulations. "We urge all supervisors to carefully observe all stages of the participants, so that participants from start to finish do not have difficulty when taking the exam," he concluded.

"The morning session is held at 08.00 - 10.00 WIB and the afternoon session is held at 13.00 - 15.00 WIB. "Not only supervisors, if there are problems, we also have technicians and a helpdesk who can help participants if there are technical problems with the exam application." Obviously

The total number of SEMA wave 2 participants was 4127 participants, divided into two sessions. Session 1 had 2064 participants and session 2 had 2063 participants. Meanwhile, the attendance for session 1 was 1822 participants or 88% attendance rate, while for session 2 there were 1895 participants or 91% attendance rate.

"Alhamdulillah, this year in SEMA wave 2 there were no significant obstacles, there were only one or two participants were not able to log in because they had not yet printed their exam participant cards, there was also one participant whose residence had a power failure, but we gave a 30 minute tolerance and there was also a participant's laptop that could not be used, and we suggested borrowing it from a neighbor because The exam must use Laprop or PC. Thank God, all obstacles can be resolved with good solutions. We also hope that all participants will pay attention to the schedule after this exam, such as the announcement of graduation results and other important information. Keep your enthusiasm and pray to get the best results," concluded Fajar when interviewed by UPNVJ Public Relations at the end of the second batch of SEMA exams.
