UPNVJ Public Relations — The Diploma-3 Nursing Program at the Veteran National Development University (UPNVJ) Jakarta remains committed to producing professional and adaptable vocational nurses who can adapt to various healthcare situations. One of the program's key strengths is its focus on the health dimension, which is a health condition that can change suddenly and requires healthcare workers to make quick and accurate decisions.

The Coordinator of the UPNVJ Diploma 3 Nursing Study Program, Ns. Diah Tika Anggraeni Tri Utami, S.Kep., M.Kep., explained that students are equipped with nursing management skills in dynamic and challenging situations. Through this approach, students are trained to become resilient, responsive nurses, and able to provide optimal healthcare services in a variety of settings.

"UPNVJ's D3 Nursing students are taught how to become nurses who are able to manage ever-changing situations, especially in the context of health dimensions which often demand a quick and appropriate response," he said.

In terms of career prospects, UPNVJ's Diploma 3 Nursing program offers a wide range of employment opportunities. Graduates can pursue careers as vocational nurses in various healthcare settings, including hospitals, clinics, community health centers, and other healthcare facilities. Not only domestically, but many graduates of this program have successfully worked abroad, particularly in Japan and Germany.

This shows that the competency of UPNVJ D3 Nursing graduates is able to compete globally and meet the needs of health workers in various countries.

In closing, Diah Tika invited prospective new students to join the UPNVJ D3 Nursing program and become part of the future generation of nurses.

"We invite all prospective new students to join the UPNVJ D3 Nursing program and become innovative professional nurses in the field of health, both at the Asian and global levels," he concluded.
