UPNVJ Public Relations - The first day of the Computer-Based Written Exam (UTBK) for the National Selection Based on Test (SNBT) at the Veteran National Development University (UPNVJ) Jakarta (UPNVJ) went smoothly, with participants showing high enthusiasm and optimism. One such participant was Vanessa, a UTBK participant, who shared her experience and preparation for the exam.

Vanessa revealed that she left for UPNVJ around 10 a.m. "It wasn't really that congested, but there was a bit of a traffic jam at the entrance," she said. Despite some hiccups along the way, Vanessa didn't have any significant difficulty finding the exam location on campus.

Facing an exam that would determine her academic future, Vanessa admitted to feeling nervous. "But I just put my trust in God, surrender everything to God, and hopefully, I'll be able to pass it smoothly," she said hopefully.

When asked about her plans after the UTBK, Vanessa said she hopes to be accepted into the University of Indonesia. "God willing, I hope I can get into the University of Indonesia," she said optimistically.

As a message to fellow UTBK participants, Vanessa advised, "Stay motivated and keep studying. If you still have time left, use it, and don't forget to pray. May it go smoothly." This message is sure to be an added boost to all UTBK participants who are struggling.

With a spirit of learning and prayer, Vanessa hopes to achieve the best results and continue her education at her dream university.
